

WWII- Victory for the allies mind map

Your assignment is to create a “mind map” that shows how you understand the events and causes that finally meant victory for the allies! Your mind maps will require you to annotate, connect, and draw visual representations of the causes and events that led to victory (both in the European and Pacific theater for the allies). Below is a list of events and causes that you must include. You will need to visualize the components and draw small illustrations that connect one idea leading to another. Each component must have written descriptor explaining the significance of that component and connecting it to the main idea.

Follow these steps to complete your mind map:

1. Begin by reviewing your notes on WWII
2. Make sure to include descriptors and dates (if appropriate)
3. Color all of your illustrations in neatly.

Make sure to include:

Treaty of Versailles

Soviet-German Nonaggression Pact

Battle of Stalingrad

Chamberlain

Appeasement

Isolationism

Potsdam Conference

Russians stopped Germany (1942)

German Invasion of Austria

German Invasion of Poland

Russia Captures Berlin

Retaking of Philippines (1944)

Atomic Bomb Attacks Hiroshima/Nagasaki

Yalta Conference

Operation Overlord (D Day)

The Holocaust

Propaganda

Hitler's suicide

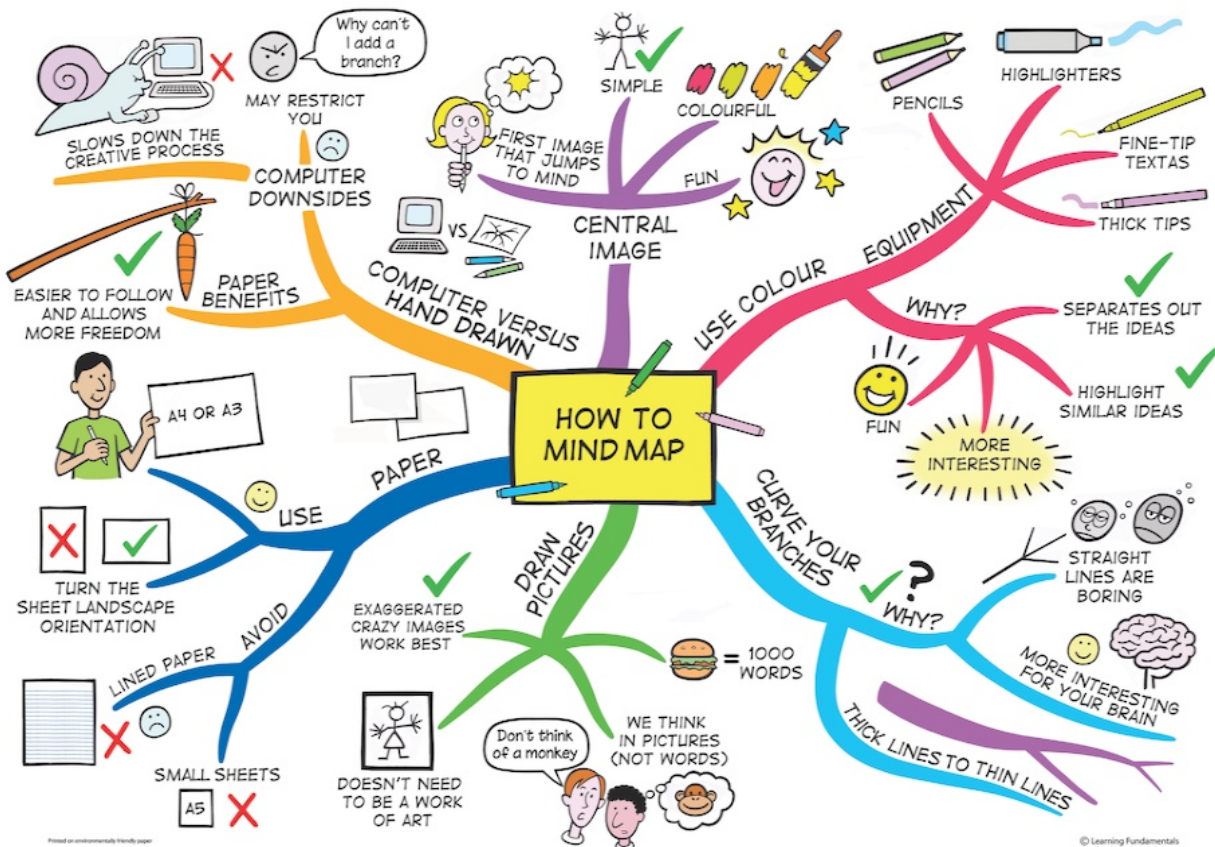

Iwo Jima/Okinawa

Pearl Harbor

Island Hopping

Rubric – 50 points possible

- Covering the above important events/components with accurate descriptors (30 points)
- Connection of components (10 points)
- Colorful and neat: (10points)

Note: This example does not show the style of mapping that include the written explanations that you must include. It is just to assist you in general mapping design. Please follow the rubric.
